His Majesty left no Heirs

Her late Royal Highness, the Princess Victoria Kamamalu Kaahumanu, to whom on the event of the death of His late Majesty without heirs, the Constitution declared that the Throne should descend, died, also without heirs, on the twenty ninth day of May, in the year of Our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty six.

His late Majesty did not appoint any successor in the mode set forth in the Constitution, with the consent of the Nobles, or make Proclamation thereof during his life. There having been no such appointment or Proclamation, the Throne became vacant, and the Cabinet Council immediately thereupon considered the form of the Constitution in such case made and provided, and

By virtue of this Order you have been assembled, to elect by ballot, some native Alii of this Kingdom as Successor to the Throne. Your present authority is limited to this duty but the newly elected Sovereign may require your services after his accession.

The Members of the Cabinet Council devoutly ask the blessings of Heaven upon your deliberations and public acts. They have appreciated the responsibility resting upon them, and have striven to maintain tranquility and order, and, especially, to guard your proceedings against improper interference.

Acknowledging the obligations to pursue all the rights, honors and dignities appertaining to the Throne, and to transmit them unimpaired to a new Sovereign, it will become their duty, upon his accession, to surrender to him the authority conferred upon them by his late lamented predecessor.

To our well beloved subjects, the Hon Elisha H. (signed) Lunalilo"

The following Message from His Majesty the King, was then read by the Royal Commissioner

"Noble & Representatives

You were called together for an extraordinary Session, the especial object of which has been accomplished

I deem it however my duty to present to your considerations, the subject of Amendments to the Constitution, for which the 80th Article of that Instrument provides.

I trust that additional labor will detain you from your Homes only for a short time

The present Constitution provides that the Legislative Assembly shall consist of the Nobles appointed by the King and of the Representatives of the people sitting together. I present to your consideration the propriety of a separation of these two Bodies, so that each will be independent of the other. This is in accordance with the principle and practice of all well regulated Governments.

Should you be of opinion that there should be two Houses, as formerly, I would suggest the propriety of limiting the Members of the Lower, sharing the privilege secured to them of presenting their views to the House of Representatives, on important subjects, connected with their several Departments. As they are members of the House of Nobles ex officio, they of course can have no right to vote in the House of Representatives.

There is another modification which I have no doubt will receive your careful consideration, and of which your are especially qualified to judge. I refer to the question of property qualification of Electors.

The Kings Cabinet consists of the Minister of Foreign Affairs, the Minister of the Interior, the Minister of Finance, and the Attorney General of the Kingdom, who are His Majesty's special Advisers in the executive affairs of the Kingdom.

The especial duties of the office of Attorney General, are distinct from those of the Executive. He is often necessarily absent from the Capital on the business of his office, and cannot fully discharge the duties of a member of the Cabinet.

I would further suggest as a proper Amendment, that whenever the King deems it His duty, to return without his signature, a Bill or Resolution, passed by the Legislative Assembly, that he will communicate his objections in writing to that House in which it shall have originated.

These are the principal amendments which I regard as desirable. There may be others which you may suggest, to which I shall give respectful consideration.

(signed) Lunalilo

Hon W. L. Martin moved that a Committee of Three be appointed to reply to His Majesty's Message.

Hon Ex. C. R. Bishop moved to Amend by appointing a Committee of Five.

Amendment accepted and motion adopted.

The following Committee were appointed Hon W. L. Martin, Hon Jos. Iaonahi, Hon E. C. R. Bishop, Hon Z. Poli, Hon W. H. Rice.

Hon W. H. Rice moved that the Message of His Majesty be referred to the Judiciary Committee, with instructions to Report thereon as speedily as possible

Motion carried and Message so referred

Hon Mr Kaukaha moved that the Message of His Majesty be printed and distributed among the Members of the Assembly
Motion carried

Hon Vice President then stated to the House that he should continue His Ex. A.S. Judd as Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, and appointed Their Excellencies E.O. Hall, and R. Stirling Printing Committee.
